The Weather.

Washington, April 4.—Forecast: South Carolina—Fair Sunday and Monday. High variable breezes.

The big brother movement—Monroe doctrine.

"Cleaning Anderson up"—Honey Path 12; Anderson 4.

Are we due to subdue, or will the dove coo at Mezi-coo?

Savannah river game chickens probably gave Villa his idea of hang on.

In pictures of Villa, his tie is knotted too much like a hangman's noose.

Huert is said to be a lover of astronomy. He is now seeing stars, all right.

More words to conquer. Capt. Fitzburne challenges the Mexican champion to a checkers tourney.

Anderson is glad that it is not in Atlanta's regional reserve. Now let Kimmama prove herself a friend to this section.

John Lind had better take note of that Mexican money to the French. Look Springs or Tom Teggart will talk. Col. Bryan commanding.

Farranza is getting Americanized. That Henton investigation committee was about on the par with some of our congressional burlesques.

John Lind's campaign of silence having been ineffective, why not invade Mexico with a chaatanga battalion. Col Bryan commanding.

Shariff Lee M. H. Ashier, having passed successfully through the second degree, has learned that there are some things worse than the third.

STAND UP STRAIGHT.

Announcement has been made of the incorporation at Albany of the American Posture League, a national body whose endeavor will be to get people to sit up and stand up straight.

The new organization is concerned particularly with the sitting and standing postures of children in schools and of adults in shops, offices, factories and elsewhere. It hopes to effect a more general use of scientific and hygienic principles in seating and accommodations for such purposes and for public audience rooms and vehicles.

"A child cannot achieve proper chest development," it is authoritative statement, "while the shape of his school seat and of his coat force him for many hours each day into faulty attitude. Thousands of children who carry heavy loads of school books are forced into distortions of posture that are at the most robust must have a serious effect on health and development. Round shoulders are to be expected in a child whose clothing is supported without proper regard for the anatomy and mechanics of the shoulder.

The fatigue of the factory operative comes not more from running the factory machinery than from carrying the bodily machinery—heart, lungs and digestive organs—at a mechanical disadvantage, through ill-adjusted seats and work benches. Measures to relieve tuberculosis, neuritis and emphysema are all doomed to a disadvantage by the constant modifying influence exerted on habits of posture by such in turn as the clothing.

ILLITERACY A CRIME.

A vigorous plea for compulsory school attendance laws in the southern states is made by William H. Hand, state high school inspector for South Carolina, in a bulletin just issued by the United States bureau of education. After pointing out that the six states still without compulsory laws—South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Texas, and the four states with compulsory laws that apply only partially—Maryland, Virginia, Arkansas and Louisiana—all are southern states, Mr. Hand presents statistics showing that although illiteracy has been reduced rapidly in these states within the last two decades, they still have the highest percentage of illiteracy among the white population.

"The figures have but one meaning," declares Mr. Hand. "They show that compulsory education reduces illiteracy.

"The opponents of compulsory education insist that the people will send their children to school without being obliged to do so, if only they are shown their duty and their obligation to their children. These opponents declare that the younger generation of white children are already in school. Neither contention is true. In 1910 the 12 southern states had 788,899 native white children between the ages of 6 and 14 not in school.

"Who are these illiterate white children, and why are they not in school? Some of them are sons and daughters of parents themselves ignorant and unable to appreciate or understand what an education means to their children and to the state. Some are the children of sordid fathers and mothers who are willing to make wage earners and breadwinners out of their untalented offspring at cultivating crops, harvesting crops, and again planting crops. Some are at work in stores or shops or engaged as messenger boys at a small wage. Many are employed in the nerve-dulling and blood sapping environment of the mills receiving good wages as children in exchange for vigor of body and training of mind as men and women; while thousands of others are roaming the streets and country lanes, the training ground for idlers, vagrants, and enemies to law, order and decency.

When the state has provided schools for all its children, it has performed only a portion of its duty. If a universal school tax is justifiable on the ground that popular education is a necessity, compulsory attendance by the state is also justifiable. The state has no right to levy and collect taxes for a specific purpose and then permit that purpose to be defeated at the hand of indifferent or selfish parents.

"Objection is often made that compulsory attendance would work hardships in the homes of the poor. Is it not a fact that the poor child is the very one who most needs the aid of the state to bring him into possession of his own? He it is who most soon face the complexities of modern life and the insistent demands of citizenship with none of the advantages common to birth or wealth. The poor child is the very one whom the state ought to help, because he himself is helpless.

"The argument against compulsory attendance on account of the negro has been worn threadbare; surely the time has come to drop it. Some phases of it are pathetic. Is it wise or expedient to permit thousands of white boys and girls to grow up in ignorance lest in forcing them into school the aspirations of the negro child should be awakened? Shall the white man remain ignorant in order to encourage or to compel the negro to remain ignorant. Is it better for white and black to remain ignorant than for both to become intelligent?"

"I yield to no one in the matter of pride over what has been accomplished educationally in the past 40 years. We have planned better schools, increased the taxpayers to vote taxes for schools, encouraged the people to build model school houses, to lengthen their school terms, to employ better teachers and to pay them better salaries, and to make their schools their pride. But what has been accomplished in the way of substantial decrease in the illiteracy of the citizenship? Of what value are all our school taxes, our elegant school houses, our improved schools to the thousands of boys and girls who never enter the door of a school house?"

CLEMSON AGAIN WAS THE WINNER

Outclassed the Erskine College Team Yesterday and Won By Score 8 to 0

In the second game with Erskine College Clemson again won yesterday afternoon on the Clemson grounds, the cadets coming off victorious 8 to 0. The Due West aggregation had no look in at any stage of the game and players returning to Anderson last night from the game said that the exhibition could not compare with that of the day before when the game went 11 innings and was won by Clemson 2 to 1.

Clemson got flying start in the first inning when Webb of Anderson knocked a home run. In the 3rd inning Curston knocked a home run and Clemson scored twice, making 5 runs. The cadets made three more runs in the seventh inning, the game being called at 5:10, the end of the seventh to allow Erskine to catch a train. The following is a condensed score of the game:

R. H. E.
Clemson 8 9 0
Erskine 0 3 7

Score by innings:
Clemson 3 0 2 0 0 3—8
Erskine 0 0 0 0 0 0—0
Batteries: Clemson, Schacht and Brown; Erskine, Wolfe, Moore and Galloway. Umpire, Goodman.

HOODOO STICKING TO ACADEMY TEAM

Lost Third Straight Game Yesterday By Overwhelming Score To W. F. S.

For the third consecutive time this season the boys of the Fraser academy were defeated at Buena Vista Park, losing to the Wofford Fitting School team by a score of 19 to 4. The school boys didn't have a single chance at the game, the Spartanburg youths sewing the affair up in its early stages but there was decided improvement in the fielding of the Anderson boys, and with a little more practice and a few additions here and there they would be able to play fair ball. The following tells how it happened:

R. H. E.
Wofford 19 12 3
Academy 4 7 7
